Thank you for picking up the CAS Iberia 2017 catalog! In this book you will find a sampling of our ~1,100 items for collectors, practitioners and reenactors.

Check our website for our full selection of items. With so many pieces on offer this catalog is sectioned by function instead of brand, we hope that will make it easier for you to find your next favorite sword or piece of kit. New and notable in this book are the swords on the facing page available from US swordmaker Gus Trim (Atrim) added to our Kingston Arms range and several new swords from the up and coming Dragon King forge. We have many new sword and gear designs near completion as well, be sure to check our website often for details!

RED DRAGON ARMOURY

Based in the UK and taking HEMA by storm, Red Dragon Armoury produces a full line of swords and fencing gear.

Angus (Gus) Trim has partnered with CAS to make a longsword designed specifically for HEMA longsword cutting practice.

Across the globe practitioners of Historical European Martial Arts (HEMA) are participating in taking their training regimen to the next level, incorporating cutting practice and competition into their routines. Similar to the test cutting practice used in Japanese Martial Arts (Tameshigiri), cutting using medieval style longswords validates the techniques learned through sparring as effective martial techniques.

However this sword is far from being a one trick pony, perfectly acceptable as a typical cruciform style longsword (well, as typical as you could call any sword made by Gus). He has simply taken those historical parameters and put together a sword he feels incorporates elements geared to making it an exceptional cutting sword. The blade geometry is hexagonal with a complex distal taper for rigidity in the cut. The edge is a well tuned appleseed geometry, providing enough steel behind the edge for durability while allowing for smooth cutting of softer targets. Most anyone can touch up the edge using a leather strop and a steady hand.

Individually made by Gus himself, these swords will be available in limited quantities.

SA1501 - MSRP: $1,200

Overall: 47 1/4"

Blade Length: 36"

Handle Length: 9"

Weight: 2lb 13oz

Point of Balance: 5"

Blade Steel: 5160

Gus literally built his reputation on this type of sword, light and fast single handers that defied the norm and challenged what most people thought how a medieval sword could perform.

This Sword & Buckler single hander inspired by illustrations in the famous 1.33 fighting manual and surviving examples of the time period is exactly that kind of sword. With a 32" blade it doesn't lack for reach, but Gus's precise distal taper and the long fuller means this sword floats in the hand.

Individually made by Gus himself, these swords will be available in limited quantities.

Knights Sword
Atrim Design Type XVIII
SM36060

Kingston Arms' selection of single hand swords show the wide variety of swords present throughout the middle ages. Our Crecy War Sword was developed in house as a fitting sword typical to the battlefield of Crecy, a stout sword with a rigid point that could stand up to inevitable contact with hardened shields and armor. Available soon, The Angus Trim designed Oakeshott Type XIV and XVIII single handers are more typical of sword and buckler swords used in more peaceful times. Quick in the hand and fast in the cut these swords are exceptional performers. Gus Trim has a knack for making swords that feel exceptionally well balanced in the hand, and these designs are no exception.

Hanwei / Tinker Early Medieval Swords are single-hand Oakeshott Type XII pieces, with sharp and blunt versions with identical handling characteristics. The sharp sword is fullered for about two thirds of its length, with a flattened diamond section out towards the tip. Our Tinker Bastard swords are based on the Oakeshott Type XVIIIA. The sharp blade is produced in two slightly different versions - this version is diamond-sectioned throughout but fullered for about one third of its length. Wheel-type pommels are sized to provide a grip for the second hand when required, and the straight tapering cross provides excellent hand protection.

HAND-MADE, LIMITED EDITION SWORDS FROM CITADEL

Created in Cambodia by Dominique Eluere at the end of the last century, Citadel's High End Knives and Swords are hand-made by master artisans in Cambodia. They combine modern materials with old school hand craftsmanship and traditional techniques to make a superior blade.

An astounding and notable sword, once 30 of these limited edition samurai swords are produced they're history! Certificate of Authenticity is included.

Imperial Katana

SC4040 - MSRP: $2,999

Overall: 41 1/4"

Blade Length: 29"

Handle Length: 11"

Weight: 2lb 11oz

Imperial Tanto

SC4044 - MSRP: $999

Overall: 17"

Blade Length: 10"

Handle Length: 5"

Weight: 1lb 2oz

The Imperial katana and matching Tanto are themed in the symbolic flower of the royal family of Japan, the Chrysanthemum. In addition the golden color of the handle and saya represent the warrior's courage. A sword fit for an emperor, or his most trusted general. This is an exceptionally well balanced sword with a hand forged and differentially hardened DNH7 high-carbon steel blade. Each blade is hand polished using traditional stones and powders to produce an authentic look. This sword features a full length bo-hi or fuller to lighten and balance the blade. The hi continues through the habaki and into the nakago, with the copper habaki forged to follow the hi.

Each fitting (tsuba, fuchi, kashira) is meticulously hand crafted in pure iron. Each piece is therefore slightly unique and held to a high standard of excellence. Citadel is one of only a handful of sword makers worldwide that still produces fittings in this manner. The tsuka is carved to each individual sword ensuring a tight friction fit with a full same-gawa wrap. The ito or handle wrapping is two-tone hand wrapped silk imported from Japan wrapped in a Katate-Maki or battle-wrap style. The saya is a work of art in its own right, showing off the masterful lacquerwork that Citadel is capable of achieving in the exceptional golden metal-fleck style. Each saya is painstakingly hand carved for the individual sword ensuring a proper snug fit.

 Overall: 16 1/2"
 Blade Length: 10 3/4"
 Handle Length: 4 1/2"
 Weight: 13 oz
 Blade Steel: 5160

Designed under the auspices of cutting master James Williams the Raptor Series has been created for the cutting practitioner who does not necessarily have access to mats but who wishes to practice and perfect his cutting technique. The blades are forged in 5160 high-carbon steel and specially heat treated to produce very high resilience and greater tolerance of misdirected cuts than a conventional differentially tempered blade. See the other Raptor sword designs at <http://casiberia.com>.

Great Wave Katana

SH5004 - MSRP: $960
 Overall: 40 1/2"

 Overall: 11 3/4"
 Blade Length: 6 3/4"
 Handle Length: 4"
 Weight: 10oz
 Blade Steel: T10

The Great Wave Katana and Tanto made by Hanwei displays the Tomoe motif used frequently for family crests and shrine decoration. The koshirae are crafted in blackened iron and feature the Tomoe mon. The blade on the Great Wave Katana is hand-forged from T10 high-carbon steel featuring a long (o)kissaki and is differentially hardened to produce a distinctive hamon. The saya is deeply lacquered in black. The rayskin of the tsuka has a premium woven Japanese black cotton wrap with a matching sageo.

Golden Oriole Katana
 SH1018 - MSRP: $990
 Overall: 42 1/4"
 Blade Length: 27 1/4"

 Weight: 1lb 10oz
 Sori: 1/2"
 Blade Steel: T10

The elegantly simple lines of the CAS Hanwei Golden Oriole Katana have long been favored by admirers of the Japanese sword. The story told by the stunning tsuba is of a mantis stealthily stalking the cricket, unaware that he is himself being stalked by the Golden Oriole. Supplied with a protective cloth bag and traditional maintenance kit.

Collect the set; a samurai wore two swords, the matching Wakizashi is also available to complete your collection.

Wind and Thunder Katana
 SH5001 - MSRP: $990
 Overall: 42"
 Blade Length: 29 1/2"

Wind and Thunder Wakizashi
 SH5024 - MSRP: $700
 Overall: 26 1/2"
 Blade Length: 19 3/4"
 Handle Length: 6 1/2"
 Weight: 1lb 13oz
 Point of Balance: 3 1/2"
 Blade Steel: T10

The Wind and Thunder set by CAS Hanwei is designed specifically for the martial artist who needs a sword to meet the demands of heavy target cutting. The katana features a heavier and thicker blade with traditional furniture and fittings. The Raiden tsuba is crafted in blackened stainless steel and the fuchi and kashira feature a Tomoe motif. The tsuka is wrapped in genuine same (ray skin) and the tsuka-ito is premium Japanese black cotton. The saya is finished in a traditional black laquer with a black cotton sageo. The Katana is an excellent choice for batto-jutsu practitioners.

It is said that a Koi swims up rivers and climbs waterfalls with bravery not unlike a Samurai warrior. As well, it is said that if a Koi is caught, it will lie still beneath the knife, facing its death bravely like a Samurai facing a sword. The Koi Samurai Swords from CAS Hanwei has a hand-forged T10 high-carbon steel blade that is differentially hardened using the traditional claying method.

Named for one of the most renowned swordmasters in Japanese history and featuring the famous "double ring" iron tsuba, the Musashi Katanas are available in several performance series cutting blade shapes. Highly polished, these swords excel at soft target cutting.

Lion Dog Katana

SH2439 - MSRP: $1,400
 Overall: 43 1/2"
 Blade Length: 29"
 Handle Length: 13"
 Weight: 2lb 14oz
 Blade Steel: HWS-1S

Lion Dog Wakizashi

SH2449 - MSRP: $1,160
 Overall: 27 3/8"
 Blade Length: 20 1/2"
 Handle Length: 6 5/8"
 Weight: 1 lbs 10 oz
 Blade Steel: HWS-1S

The Lion Dog Swords feature an O-Kissaki blade of Hanwei's own high-alloy HWS-1S steel, which combines superior performance with an outstanding O-choji hamon. The outstanding performance characteristics of blades forged from HWS-1S steel derive from a combination of the careful selection of alloying elements and a complex processing procedure, basically involving the manipulation of the steel's carbon content across the blade section. This results in a very tough and resilient blade with a hard, highly abrasion-resistant edge.

Hunter Katana

SH2471 - MSRP: $1,800
 Overall: 41 1/4"
 Blade Length: 27 5/8"
 Handle Length: 12 1/4"
 Weight: 2lb 12oz
 Point of Balance: 4 1/2"
 Blade Steel: L6

Hunter Wakizashi

SH2472 - MSRP: $1,500
 Overall: 27 1/2"
 Blade Length: 20"
 Handle Length: 6 1/4"
 Point of Balance: 3 1/2"
 Sori: 1/2"
 Blade Steel: L6

The Hunter Katana is built on the Hanwei L6/Bainite blade in the Shinogi Zukuri style, and featuring superb koshirae, the Hunter is a very desirable and functional piece. The subdued green silk ito and green striped lacquered saya compliment the blackened tsuba with golden accents, featuring a raptor stalking his next prey. Bainite is a structure of high-carbon steel that combines great strength with excellent flexibility and shock absorption characteristics.

Tonbo Katana

SH2469 - MSRP: $1,550
 Overall: 42 1/8"
 Blade Length: 28"
 Handle Length: 12 1/2"
 Weight: 2lb 5oz
 Point of Balance: 4 5/8"
 Sori: 1"
 Steel: Folded K120C

Tonbo Wakizashi

SH2470 - MSRP: $1,150
 Overall: 27 1/4"
 Blade Length: 19 1/2"
 Handle Length: 6 1/2"
 Weight: 1lb 7oz
 Point of Balance: 3 3/4"
 Sori: 1/2"
 Steel: Folded K120C

The blade of the Tonbo Daisho are hand-forged and folded from powder steel, with a medium-length (chu) kissaki. The saya is a deep black lacquer featuring gold dragonflies. High quality ray skin (same) is used on the tsuka. The tsuka-ito is made of premium purple Japanese cotton. The silk sageo compliments this piece and is elegantly woven in dark blue and black. An essential set for the collector of fine swords.

Orchid Katana

SH1207 - MSRP: $1,300
 Overall: 40 1/2"
 Blade Length: 28"
 Handle Length: 11 1/2"
 Weight: 2lb 3oz
 Point of Balance: 6"
 Sori: 3/4"
 Steel: Folded K120C

The Orchid Katana is as quick as it is beautiful with a relatively light blade of folded K120C and striking koshirae. The hamon is prominent and the hada shows distinct layers. High quality ray skin (same) is used on the tsuka, and the tsuka-ito and sageo is woven from premium Japanese cotton. The saya is deeply lacquered in blue with buffalo horn koiguchi and kurikata.

Ronin Katana

SH2360 - MSRP: $1,500
 Overall: 40 1/2"
 Blade Length: 28 1/2"
 Handle Length: 11"
 Weight: 2lb 7oz
 Blade Steel: Folded K120C

The Story of the 47 Ronin is one of the most celebrated and influential tales of the Samurai from the Edo period. Paul Chen's Ronin Koshirae Katana captures the spirit of Lord Asano's 47 Ronin. The blackened iron Tsuba on the Ronin Katana depicts Asano's followers on their vengeful march. The blade is hand forged & folded Swedish powder steel (K120C) with bo-hi in a traditional Shinogi Zukuri style.

Blade Steel: K120C

Our Performance Series Katana are the culmination of years of study of the optimum blade designs for today's martial artists. Four distinct variations are available, each optimized for a particular discipline or cutting application. The blade geometry and physical characteristics of each of the Tameshigiri (cutting practice) blades are tailored towards different targets. The Elite Katana's blade is a little wider than its traditional counterpart, allowing for easier cuts on normal tameshigiri targets, while that of the Katana XL is significantly wider, producing a very thin edge that will sail right through traditional cutting targets such as multiple rolled and soaked tatami mats. The Katana XL Light has the XL's profile but is provided with bo-hi (groove or fuller), reducing the weight to the point where double cuts are possible but clean cuts on tameshigiri targets may still be made.

The Tori Series Swords are built on a forged and folded blade with the handle wrapped in the highest quality ray skin and leather. The Crane and Armor theme is carried through the furniture while the saya features an elegant textured brown finish. This is undoubtedly one of the most elegant mounts ever crafted by CAS Hanwei.

Hanwei's Sword Bags provide added protection and a little style to the otherwise black padded cases used when transporting swords. These bags are especially needed when carrying multiple swords to keep sayas and metal fittings from being damaged in transit. They are also perfect for keeping swords in pristine condition when in storage.

The Practical Shinobi Ninja-to from the CAS Hanwei forge, whose construction patterns closely that of the Practical Katana (Pg 10), is a useful piece for those studying the Way of the Ninja. The blade is hand-forged in high-carbon steel and is differentially hardened using the traditional claying method. All of the fittings are finished in antiqued black iron. The ornate tsuba displays the kuji-kiri (energy-channeling hand positions) employed by the mystical ninja. The tsuka is wrapped in a synthetic white ray skin (same) and the tsuka-ito is in durable synthetic black leather. The saya has flat black finish with demon-head bindings for the black Japanese cotton sageo and an intricate kojiri. A sword no practitioner of Ninjutsu should be without.

Designed by noted martial artist and teacher Scott M. Rodell, Hanwei's Chinese Cutting Sword provides a purpose-built weapon for the art of cutting in Chinese Swordsmanship. Utilizing a special steel formulation and heat treatment regimen developed by Hanwei, the blade optimizes edge hardness and body toughness, ideal characteristics in a cutting sword. Now we have available a matching Sparring Jian developed again under Scott Rodell's designs.

The Practical Wushu (above) is an ultra-flexible blade designed for forms training. While the Kungfu Jian from Dragon King is a more ornate version of a typical Chinese straight sword.

See Pg 30 for our Ash Poles used for spear shafts

While the sword gets most of the glory, it was the polearm that was used more than any other weapon on the battlefield. It's much easier to train a soldier how to wield a polearm than a sword, and substantially cheaper to outfit an entire regiment. This selection from the CAS Hanwei forge and GDFB spans the globe from China, Japan and on to Europe. Typically a stabbing weapon; some polearms like the Pudaο were slashing weapons while the Pole Axe combines slashing, stabbing and blunt force trauma. Blunted spear heads for reenactment are on Page 30.

Far from the humble timber axe, these axe designs were those used in battles spanning Europe and North America for centuries. As swords were materially expensive to produce the axe and spear were more widely available and used to devastating effect. Special mention to Hanwei's Pipe Hawk (XH2119), a working smokeable tomahawk! Axe heads purpose made for reenactment use are available on Page 30.

Red Dragon produces the most popular synthetic sparring swords available to the HEMA community. Affordable and durable these swords are perfect for the beginner practitioner or to outfit an entire school for training. The blades are designed to flex in the last one-third of their length towards the tip, allowing for much safer thrusting than with conventional wooden wasters or shinai. The blade/tang joint is reinforced by a high tensile steel rod running along the full length of the handle, which remove the handle flex typically associated with plastic training swords.

The variety of interchangeable parts offered by Red Dragon also provides an economical means to create many different styles of sword on a single blade. The ball shaped quillon finials and rounded pommels of the Longsword and Single-hand sword are designed for sparring safety, as are the pommel and basket of the basket-hilt sword. The grips are manufactured from a rubber-like thermoplastic elastomer, designed to absorb the impact of strikes and to provide a tight fit on the tangs. These synthetic-bladed swords also provide an excellent option for theatrical use, being inherently safer than steel or aluminum.

TOURNEY SERIES REENACTMENT

Our Tourney Series Sparring and Stage Swords from Kingston Arms set a new standard in this price point of re-enactment weaponry. Features like thru-tang handle construction, peened stainless steel pommel and guard, 2mm rounded edge thickness make these exceptional weapons on the battle field.

The cord wrapped leather grip feels exceptional in the hand with an oval cross section and slight barrel shape to keep fatigue at bay. The grip is large enough to accommodate armored hands. The blade is forged from 9260 spring steel and is tempered to around 50 Hrc, providing a long lasting sword.

The guard needs special mention, featuring the King-Peen system. King-Peen is essentially a steel tab on the guard under the grip that is pinned through the tang of the sword. This process keeps the guard from going loose after a lengthy campaign without compromising the strength of the hilt. The pommel is pressed into place and hot peened. Combine these two processes and you get a sword that rings like a bell when struck.

MSRP: $35

GDFB's Bucklers have gained a well deserved reputation as being some of the toughest on the market for standing up to reenactment & combat use. Due to popular demand we've increased the size of the dome on this buckler to fit even the largest of armored gloves comfortably. Crafted in 14 gauge steel unless otherwise noted, all of our bucklers have rolled edges and riveted steel handles for years of hard use in the field. And they look good while doing it! Now available with a larger dome for armored hands, our shield boss is ideal for the re-enactor crafting his own wooden shield.

This GDFB 'Milanese' full-harness displays the characteristic robust and rounded appearance of armor produced in northern Italy throughout the 15th century. Armor of this type incorporates large and smooth glancing surfaces in its construction, the theory being that these rounded surfaces would help to deflect blows from an opponents weapon. Crafted in 16 ga. steel (helmet is 14 ga.) this armor will provide protection for the re-enactor. Included with the armor are the mail skirt, standard and voiders. Wooden base and stand included.

Churburg Suit of Armor, 16G

AB0072 - MSRP: $2,149
Overall: 72"
Weight: 168lb
Gauge: 16

This fully wearable suit is based on the famous #13 harness housed in the Castle of Churburg in Italy. Believed to have been made in Milan during the second half of the 14th century, this high quality armor is one of the earliest known examples of a near-intact harness. This armor typifies a period when the traditional mail coat, reinforced with varying degrees of plate protection, was still predominant on the battlefields of Europe and predates the full plate suits of the 15th century.

Our Churburg armor is fully articulated and wearable and boasts many of the features found on the original suit. Many of the individual steel plates that make up the 16 ga. breastplate (which has a lance rest attached to the right hand side) and arm-harness are bordered with decorative etched brass strips. Supplied with an iron display stand, the harness features a round section riveted mail shirt and aventail. Wooden base and stand included.

Our Japanese kabuto & menpo are hand-made, superbly constructed and beautifully detailed. Models AH2082/2083/2088 replicate the helms of the great Samurai Takeda Shingen, Oda Nobunaga and Date Masamune respectively. Model AH2081, based on a museum piece of unknown provenance, doubles as an exquisite stand for a katana and wakizashi set. All four pieces are equipped with leather liners (ukebari) allowing them to be worn. Custom-designed wooden display stands are included. The museum-quality reproductions of these archaeological treasures have been hand crafted by the metalsmiths of Hanwei with exacting attention to detail.

CHAINMAIL CODES

GET DRESSED FOR BATTLE

Our selection of mail is very extensive, catering for all interests from lightweight costuming to full battle re-enactment, with appropriate levels of construction authenticity. Some details of each style of construction are given below. The following table provides construction details for each of the grades attributed to particular mail garments.

Butted Mail (Codes 10, 16B, 16Z, B) - This is the most economical construction style of mail, as the cost of labor-intensive riveting is avoided. Butted mail has limited historical precedent but is fine for general costuming and role-playing where strict construction authenticity is not a requirement.

Dome-Head Riveted Mail (Codes 4, 5, 8, Ti, 9) - This style of mail is reasonably authentic to the early medieval period, particularly in the European flat ring (EFR) version. This construction style has the advantage of strength, allowing it to be used for supervised weapons-contact re-enactment and yet more economical than wedge-riveted mail. Construction is in the 4 in 1 pattern.

Wedge-Riveted Mail (Code 2) - Wedge riveting, in association with flattened rings, became popular in the 1300's and was used until the demise of mail. Alternating rows of solid punched rings and riveted rings predominated until late in the period, when all-riveted construction became more popular. Available in steel only, this style of mail is our most authentic and is well able to withstand supervised weapons-contact re-enactment. Construction is in the 4 in 1 pattern. The mail is supplied burnished to give a dark grey to black finish.
